Confession of Sin

Father, we confess that our first thought is not one another. Our first thought is self. We love when it is convenient. We show honor when we are honored first. We live in harmony when it is easy, but allow discord to take root more often than not. We are haughty and shun the lowly as unworthy of our presence. We bear the burdens of others when it fits our schedule. We are often judgmental and harsh. We hold long grudges that bear the fruit of bitterness. We tear others down, demean, criticize, reject, avoid. Father, forgive us! We thank you for Jesus, who for us was rejected by you, that we in Him might be accepted by you. We thank you that he experienced the ultimate disunity at the cross in being forsaken, that we might be united to Him and so loved. Help us to remember our oneness in Christ—as members of His one body, sheep in His one flock, believers in His one gospel, stones in His one temple having been indwelt by His one Spirit. Help us to manifest that oneness in the power of that Spirit, treating one another as we have been treated by Christ and are treated in Christ. It is in Jesus' name that we pray. Amen.
